

"Performance Tax" or Finally Justice?

Contributed by Gordon Cunningham
Friday, 12 February 2010

So by now you've probably heard about the new bill in Congress aimed at having radio stations pay for playing music. The idea is to pay the artists for the "performance" of the piece over the air. Yes, times have changed. Arguments on both sides have good merit. So what do you think? Pay for Play is ok, or will it kill stations and just make corporations more in control of our broadcasting industry? Your thoughts? Log in and comment below...